The University of Missouri

In the course of its history, the University of Missouri has committed itself to: teaching since its founding in 1839 as the first public university west of the Mississippi River; research as part of the land-grant mandate in the late 1800s; extension services since the early 1900s; and most recently economic development.

Mizzou is one of only 38 public U.S. universities and the only public institution in the state to be selected for membership in the Association of American Universities. Membership, which recognizes excellence in teaching and research endeavors, includes only the nation's top-tier institutions.

The origin of the university can be traced to a clause in the federal Act of 1820, which admitted Missouri to the Union. The act authorized the sale of two tracts of public land with the proceeds earmarked "for the use of a seminary of learning." The land was sold in the 1830s, and sentiment mounted for the establishment of a university. By 1839 the fund amounted to about $100,000, and the General Assembly passed two acts that provided for the establishment and location of the University of Missouri. One act specified that the university be built in one of six central counties. The county that offered the greatest inducements in land and money would obtain the university. Boone County won the bid with $117,921.25 in cash plus land, and in 1839 the University of Missouri was founded in the frontier town of Columbia.

Two momentous changes occurred in 1870. Under terms of the Morrill Act, the university was accorded land-grant status, prompting the legislature to authorize a School of Agriculture and Mechanical Arts for Columbia and to open a second campus to house the School of Mines and Metallurgy at Rolla.

Mizzou has schools and colleges in accountancy; agriculture, food and natural resources; arts and science; business; education; engineering; health professions; honors; human environmental sciences; information science and learning technologies; journalism; law; medicine; music; natural resources; nursing; public affairs; social work; veterinary medicine and visual studies.

Mizzou's breadth and depth enables both students and faculty to take an interdisciplinary approach to intellectual inquiry.

The university is a source of pride for all Missourians, setting the standard for higher education in the state and establishing a reputation for excellence known throughout the world.

MIZZOU ALUMNI: NEW PARTNERS IN THE ENTERPRISE

Congratulations and welcome to a lifelong relationship with your alma mater.

Graduates who have preceded you know the importance of the Mizzou experience. You will find that MU is well-regarded by executives of institutions everywhere and that you, as a graduate, will profit by the university's reputation.

To a great extent, the value of your degree depends on how well MU continues its mission of teaching, research, service and economic development. Your goodwill and support are essential to secure its future and the success of students who follow you.

The university is more than its buildings, more than its faculty and more than the students present at any one time. The university consists of all who enter and leave its halls — who are affected by and carry on its pervading principles.

A university and its alumni are inseparable. Graduation day creates a stronger-than-ever bond of mutual interdependence. Your continued interest and concern — and your enthusiastic help beyond today — is important to Mizzou. You are your university.

Schools & Colleges

College of Agriculture, Food and Natural Resources

Includes School of Natural Resources

Christopher R. Daubert, PhD, Vice Chancellor and Dean

At the University of Missouri's College of Agriculture, Food and Natural Resources (CAFNR), we make discoveries that impact the world. Our work improves the health of communities, plants, animals and the planet. CAFNR embodies the land-grant mission through quality teaching, cutting-edge research and the extension of that work to the people of Missouri.

From entering freshmen to postdoctoral scientists, students prepare for a range of careers. Professional development through clubs and organizations, hands-on learning opportunities and interaction with industry prepares our graduates to have an impact in the food system, agricultural policy, natural resources, parks and recreation, law, medicine and other areas.

The Missouri Agricultural Experiment Station develops new technology and practices in animal, biochemical, plant, food and natural resource sciences to keep Missouri producers competitive in world markets and to provide consumers with a safe, healthy, low-cost food supply.

Technology reaches the people through the college's Agricultural and Environment Extension program. State specialists within the college and area specialists in county centers interact with the public for real-life application of research to solve problems, while serving the number one economic driver for Missouri — agriculture.

College of Arts and Science

Includes School of Music, the School of Visual Studies and the Harry S Truman School of Public Affairs

Cooper Drury, PhD, Dean

The College of Arts and Science (A&S) is dedicated to teaching critical thinking and creativity to our students. We are committed to researching the challenges we face to find evidence-based solutions and to enriching the world through creative work. We have the vast range of expertise that turns ideas into reality and where experiential learning and innovation flourish. Academic programming spans nearly 30 departments with academic study in the humanities and fine arts, natural and mathematical sciences, and social and behavioral sciences. A&S students work alongside internationally recognized scientists, scholars, artists, writers, and performers, and they apply and extend their learning in undergraduate and graduate research projects, study-abroad experiences, internships, and service learning. As the largest college at the University of Missouri, an AAU, public, land grant institution, A&S serves the state and nation by educating Mizzou students, advancing research and creative work, and engaging Missouri and beyond.

Robert J. Trulaske, Sr. College of Business

Includes School of Accountancy

Balaji Rajagopalan, PhD, Dean

Founded in 1914, the Trulaske College of Business leads the way in business education, enrolling nearly 6,000 students annually across four academic units: accountancy, finance, management and marketing. The college offers a variety of undergraduate and graduate programs, including the new MBA in Analytics, which combines core MBA disciplines with advanced analytical skills; the Crosby MBA program, an innovative master of science in business with stackable certification; a 150-hour accountancy program; doctoral programs in accountancy and business administration; and a host of online offerings. Trulaske students enjoy exclusive access to experience-centered learning opportunities, transformative technology, and resources designed to inspire an entrepreneurial mindset. The college boasts more than 40,000 alumni.

With a commitment to professional development, the college hosts opportunities for students to gain practical insights through internships, field projects, guest speakers and executives-in-residence. In addition to teaching students, the college's faculty members conduct and publish research on significant, timely issues and engage in wide-ranging service on campus, in their disciplines and in the business community.

Trulaske contributes to Mizzou's economic development mission by preparing the next generation of executives, accounting professionals, entrepreneurs and business leaders. The college takes great pride in its graduates and highly ranked programs.

College of Education & Human Development

Includes School of Information Science and Learning Technologies

Kui Xie, PhD, Dean

The University of Missouri College of Education & Human Development (Mizzou CEHD) prepares and supports professionals in education, information, lifespan, and intervention sciences that improve the quality of life and economic development for the people of Missouri, the nation and the world.

The bachelor of science in education degree leads to certification to teach at the early childhood, elementary, middle or secondary levels in Missouri, as well as many other states. The bachelor of science degree helps graduates prepare for diverse careers working with children, adults, and families. The bachelor of educational studies degree specializes learning in education, technology-based learning, leadership, and organizational change, without certification.

In addition to undergraduate degrees, Mizzou CEHD also offers graduate study leading to master's, educational specialist and doctoral degrees. As part of Mizzou's land-grant mission, the college advances education through research, outreach and partnerships that support communities across Missouri and beyond.

College of Engineering

Maria Chrysochoou, PhD, Dean

When engineering classes at the University of Missouri began in 1849, a strong tradition was born that continues to grow. At the University of Missouri College of Engineering, we believe that with every innovation we make and every new development we bring to light, we do more than solve the problems of today. Here, we ready the leaders who will blaze forward with a revolution that defines the world for tomorrow. At Mizzou Engineering, collaboration, creativity and research surge together. Where others may see problems, disease and inefficiencies, we see opportunities, potential and infinite possibilities. We teach, we learn, and we analyze — and we demand innovation, inclusion and integrity as we create smarter, safer, more efficient ways of living.

The college offers fully accredited degree programs in biological, chemical, civil, computer, electrical, industrial and mechanical engineering, along with computer science. All of programs offer both undergraduate and graduate degrees. The college also offers a bachelor's degree in Information Technology. Naval Science is under the academic administration of the college as well. The hallmark of the College of Engineering is excellence in teaching and scholarly pursuits.

Graduate School

Jeni Hart, PhD, Dean of the Graduate School and Vice Provost for Graduate Studies

MU offers an atmosphere encouraging academic inquiry and stimulating intellectual activity fundamental to a superior graduate education. The University of Missouri System is the only state-supported institution in Missouri to offer professional and doctoral degrees. Many of these degrees are available only on the Columbia campus. The Office of Graduate Studies provides administrative and academic support to students and programs from more than 90 departments and areas.

The Office of Graduate Studies is a member of the Association of Graduate Schools and the Council of Graduate Schools. Of 5800 degree-seeking graduate students, 43% are seeking doctoral degrees. The university granted its first master's degree in 1846. The first doctor of philosophy degree was granted in 1899.

College of Health Sciences

Includes School of Social Work

Kristofer Hagglund, PhD, Dean

The College of Health Sciences is the fastest-growing academic unit at Mizzou, with more than 4,000 students preparing for in-demand careers that better the health and well-being of individuals and communities. Every day, the college's faculty, staff and students work to improve lives through the integration of teaching, research, health care and service.

Graduates join a growing workforce of professionals employed in health care, government, business, nonprofit, research and education settings. The college's academic programs span undergraduate, graduate and professional degrees that prepare students for careers in clinical and diagnostic sciences; criminal and justice studies; fitness programming and management; health science; occupational therapy; physical therapy; public health; social work; and speech, language and hearing sciences. The College of Health Sciences also offers Missouri's only public doctoral degree in health and rehabilitation science, preparing graduates for careers in research, higher education and organizational leadership across health disciplines.

The college also operates multiple clinics and programs that provide vital services to members of the community and hands-on learning for students. These include clinics for speech and hearing, occupational therapy, physical therapy and behavioral health; the Combs Language Preschool; neuropsychology and psychology clinics; and Extension programs.

School of Journalism

David D. Kurpius, PhD, Dean

MU established the world's first School of Journalism in 1908 to strengthen the role of journalism in democratic societies. Today, the school's international reputation attracts students from nearly all states and more than 30 countries.

Students receive a broad liberal arts education as well as course work and practical training in the skills and responsibilities of journalism and strategic communication through daily performance under deadline pressure. They work under faculty supervision in six professional news outlets and two strategic communication agencies: AdZou, a fee-based full-service agency serving local, regional and national clients; the Columbia Missourian, a digital-first community newspaper; Global Journalist, a weekly radio/video program about international news; KOMU-TV, mid-Missouri's fully commercial NBC affiliate; KBIA-FM, mid-Missouri's NPR member station; Missouri Business Alert, a digital newsroom publishing top business news from across the state, Mojo Ad, a full-service, fee-based agency specializing in the youth/young adult audience for national brands; and Vox, a cross-platform city magazine that publishes a weekly print edition and daily website.

The school's objective is to develop within students an appreciation of the professional journalist's role — to provide society with a basis for understanding and mutual confidence upon which diverse people can find common principles and goals.

School of Law

Paul J. Litton, JD, Dean and R. B. Price Professor of Law

Graduates of the School of Law, established in 1872, serve at the highest levels of local, state and national governments. Law school graduates and faculty members have written the majority of laws that regulate the lives of Missourians. Faculty scholarship has affected legal change at the national, state and local levels. The School of Law is housed in the award-winning, state-of-the-art facility, John K. Hulston Hall. Approximately 75 percent of the school's graduates practice law in Missouri.

The school's faculty develop and refine in each student the basic traits that characterize the good and able lawyer: analytic ability, substantive legal orientation, basic working skills, familiarity with legal institutional context, awareness of nonlegal environments and ethical concern.

The School of Law is a national leader in alternative dispute resolution techniques and boasts the nationally recognized and reputed Center for the Study of Dispute Resolution.

School of Medicine

Richard Barohn, Executive Vice Chancellor for Health Affairs, Hugh E. & Sarah D. Stephenson Dean of the School of Medicine

Established as the first public medical school west of the Mississippi River, the School of Medicine has offered a four-year education program since 1956. The school has a tradition of educating students from rural Missouri, a focal point of the school's mission. The development of the Missouri Telemedicine Network and Mid-Missouri Area Health Education Center in recent years has strengthened MU's service to rural communities by giving students and rural health providers access to groundbreaking programs and technology. As the academic arm of the Health Sciences Center, the school's clinical faculty members provide primary and specialty care for patients from every county of Missouri.

With its innovative patient-based learning curriculum, the school is emerging as a national model for medical education. Students gain early and frequent exposure to clinical cases that enhance their problem-solving skills and help them earn higher than average scores on national licensing examinations. U.S. News & World Report consistently ranks the school's family and community medicine department as one of the top ten in the country.

Sinclair School of Nursing

Lori L. Popejoy, PhD, RN, FGSA, FAAN, Dean

The nursing program began in 1901 with the establishment of Parker Memorial Hospital Training School. Today, the Sinclair School of Nursing is committed to promoting, maintaining, and improving health and health-care delivery in Missouri and worldwide, through nursing education, research, service and economic development. Nursing faculty implement innovations in teaching and offer students hands-on experience in the art and science of nursing. Faculty research is shaping the discipline of nursing and delivery of health care.

The school offers a baccalaureate program that prepares students for the general practice of nursing (including accelerated and RN-BSN options); a master's degree program that prepares nurse leaders and nurse educators; a doctor of nursing practice program that prepares advanced practice nurses and nurses for executive leadership roles; and a PhD program that prepares nurse researchers and scholars for clinical, academic and policy roles. The RN-BSN program and all graduate programs are available online.

College of Veterinary Medicine

Srinand Sreevatsan, PhD, Dean

Missouri's only College of Veterinary Medicine, established in 1946, has educated more than 4,600 veterinarians. They pursue careers in private practice, industry, government, education and the armed services. Approximately one hundred and thirty new students are enrolled annually in the vigorous four-year curriculum leading to the doctor of veterinary medicine degree.

After two years of fundamental classroom study, students rotate through hospitals, clinics and laboratories, and receive hands-on training in diagnosis, prevention, treatment and control of diseases in animals.

The college is the state's only complete animal-health facility. Its education, research, patient-care, diagnostic and public information programs support the state's livestock industry, its companion-animal owners and its veterinary medical practitioners.

Academic Regalia

Academic institutions throughout the world have created a variety of customs, including distinctive dress, color and ceremony to indicate the accomplishments of scholars. English traditions originating at Oxford and Cambridge led to the development of American academic regalia. By the 20th century, institutions of higher learning in the United States had adopted a well-defined code of academic costume, which now includes identification of the different academic degrees by distinctive gowns, hoods and colors.

For instance, the baccalaureate gown, generally worn closed, is identified by long, pleated front panels and long, pointed sleeves. The master's and doctoral gowns may be worn open or closed. The master's gown has long sleeves closed at the bottom, and wearers place their arms through an opening in the front of the sleeves. Doctoral gowns are distinguished by velvet panels around the neck and down the front of the gown. On the sleeves are three horizontal velvet bars in black or the colors representing the doctorate.

In the United States, the hood is the most colorful feature of academic regalia. The bachelor's hood, not usually worn, is 3-feet long with a 2-inch-wide velvet edging in a color representing the degree received. The master's hood is 6 inches longer with a 3-inch-wide velvet edging. The doctoral hood, at 4 feet, reaches far down the wearer's back, and is bordered by a 5-inch-wide strip of velvet. The hoods are black on the outside. The lining, which is folded out, bears the official colors of the institution granting the degree. The doctor of philosophy hood from MU has a dark-blue border, for philosophy, with a black-and-gold lining. The border colors represent the degree earned, not the academic major. The doctor of philosophy candidate in engineering, for instance, would wear the dark blue of philosophy on the hood instead of the orange of engineering.

The color of the master's hood, if worn by an MU master's candidate, may represent either the degree earned, such as white for the master of arts or gold yellow for the master of science, or the candidate's academic discipline. Traditionally, candidates at MU choose the color of their hood based on the discipline. A master of science candidate in nursing, for example, would normally wear the apricot of nursing instead of the gold yellow for the master of science degree.

Because most MU faculty members did their graduate work at institutions other than MU, there is a variety of academic attire in today's procession. Some degree holders wear no hood because their academic robe symbolizes the degree awarded, as with the scarlet gown of Oxford University. The official robes worn by members of the University of Missouri System Board of Curators are gold.

The standard cap is the mortarboard, always black. It is the custom at MU for the color of the tassels to indicate undergraduate students' academic majors. Doctoral degree candidates wear gold tassels; master's candidates wear black.

Honorary Degrees

Each year the university recognizes prominent individuals, whether they attended the university or not, by presenting them with honorary degrees.

This year's honorees join the ranks of more than 400 people awarded honorary degrees from MU since 1892. Past honorees include Presidents Harry S Truman and Herbert Hoover; Gens. John Pershing, Omar Bradley and Maxwell Taylor; artist Thomas Hart Benton; author Samuel Clemens

(Mark Twain); newsman Walter Cronkite; Sens. Thomas Eagleton, Stuart Symington and James Fulbright; Missouri Govs. Warren Hearnes, Phil Donnelly, Henry Caulfield, John Dalton and Forrest Donnell; poet Marianne Moore; entrepreneur J.C. Penney; author and journalist Carl Rowan; psychologist B.F. Skinner; singer-songwriter Sheryl Crow; Walmart founder Sam Walton; and U.S. Reps. Andrew Young, Clarence Cannon and Martha Wright Griffiths.

Hayes Barnard

As an entrepreneur, business owner and philanthropist, Hayes Barnard, BSBA '95, has dedicated his life and career to innovation, service and the belief that business can be a powerful force for good.

Barnard is the founder, chair and CEO of GoodLeap, the largest financial technology company in the U.S. focused on home improvement. GoodLeap's proprietary software and financing tools offer a broad suite of solar panels, battery storage, efficient roofing and other sustainable solutions to millions of homeowners across the country. The company has logged more than $64 billion in loan volume since its inception and has a private market valuation of $12 billion. GoodLeap has been ranked No. 30 on Fast Company's Most Innovative Companies in the World list and No. 10 on Forbes' Fintech 50 list.

Barnard is also the founder, chair and CEO of GivePower, an award-winning nonprofit that provides clean electricity and safe drinking water to more than 2 million people across 32 countries by partnering with hundreds of companies. Since its founding in 2013, the organization has provided more than 500 million liters of clean water around the world and has been recognized with numerous global awards for its technology and commitment to addressing critical needs.

In 2020, Barnard founded GoodFinch, an asset management company specializing in sustainable investments. Mirroring his previous successes, the company has since become the largest finance platform for solar and home improvement assets.

Barnard got his start at Oracle, where he worked in software enterprise sales and gained an appreciation for the power of technology. He then founded, scaled and sold multiple businesses in the sustainability and finance sector, including Paramount Solar, which was acquired by Solar City in 2013. Barnard spent the following four years spearheading its growth as the chief revenue officer.

Barnard graduated from the University of Missouri with a bachelor's degree in business management and marketing. He credits being the only child of a single mom — whom he describes as having a relentlessly positive mindset — for inspiring him to serve those who need the most.

Barnard and his wife, Jessica, have three children and reside in Austin, Texas.

Honorary Degrees

Barbara Stubbs Cochran

Barbara Stubbs Cochran is an award-winning journalist whose career has included top jobs in the print, broadcast and nonprofit worlds.

Cochran is currently president of the Fallen Journalists Memorial Foundation, which is working to build a monument in Washington, D.C., to honor journalists who have lost their lives in the line of duty.

Cochran served nine years as the Missouri School of Journalism's Curtis B. Hurley Chair in Public Affairs Journalism and directed the school's Washington program, which brings students to the nation's capital for hands-on learning. At Mizzou, Cochran also worked with the Donald W. Reynolds Journalism Institute and the Committee of Concerned Journalists in Washington to continuously improve the practice of journalism through research, consulting and training.

Cochran previously spent 12 years as president of the Radio Television Digital News Association (RTDNA), where she championed First Amendment rights and journalism ethics. During her tenure there, RTDNA received the Missouri Honor Medal for Distinguished Service in Journalism.

Cochran began her journalism career as a copy desk trainee and rose to become managing editor of the Washington Star newspaper. She then served as vice president for news at National Public Radio, where she directed the creation of NPR's Morning Edition.

Cochran later transitioned to television, becoming executive producer of NBC's Meet the Press before serving as vice president and Washington bureau chief of CBS News as the first woman to head a network bureau in Washington. Over the course of her career, she supervised coverage of major international stories including Watergate and the Persian Gulf War and played a leading role in the coverage of every election and political convention for 24 years.

Cochran has been recognized with numerous awards including The Media Institute's Freedom of Speech Award, The AWC Matrix Foundation's International Award for Lifetime Achievement, the Library of American Broadcasting's Giants of Broadcasting Award, the Radio Television Digital News Association's First Amendment Award and two DuPont-Columbia Awards.

She has served as a judge for the DuPont-Columbia, George Foster Peabody and Hearst Collegiate Journalism Awards. She's been a member of the Council on Foreign Relations and the Accrediting Council for Education in Journalism and Mass Communications.

Cochran has a bachelor's degree from Swarthmore College in Pennsylvania and a master's degree from the Columbia University Graduate School of Journalism in New York.

Honorary Degrees

Rodger O. Riney

Rodger O. Riney, BS CiE '68, MBA '69, is a business leader and philanthropist best known as the founder of Scottrade, one of the nation's leading discount brokerage firms, and for his and his wife Paula's longstanding philanthropic endeavors in Missouri and across the country.

In 1980, Riney founded Scottsdale Securities in Phoenix, Arizona, joining the emerging discount brokerage industry. After buying out his partner in 1985, he relocated the company to St. Louis. By 2000, the business had moved predominantly online, and the firm became known as Scottrade, Inc., maintaining a business model centered on low commissions, accessible branch offices and a strong emphasis on customer service. Under Riney's leadership, the company grew to include 500 branch offices in 48 states and earned multiple recognitions, including six appearances on Fortune magazine's list of the 100 Best Companies to Work For and JD Power Best Discount Brokerage Award 11 times.

In 2015, Riney announced that he had been diagnosed with multiple myeloma, for which there was no known cure. The following year, he sold Scottrade to TD Ameritrade and turned his attention increasingly toward philanthropy.

Riney and his wife established the Paula and Rodger Riney Foundation to support research aimed at improving the understanding and treatment of multiple myeloma and related cancers, as well as other philanthropic causes, primarily in Missouri. Through the foundation, the Rineys have funded more than 200 research projects at more than 20 institutions, including the University of Missouri, Washington University, Emory University, the Mayo Clinic, the Dana-Farber Cancer Institute and Memorial Sloan Kettering Cancer Center. In partnership with the International Myeloma Society, the foundation also supports translational cancer research and career development grants for scientists worldwide. To date, more than 100 researchers at 66 institutions in 22 countries have been funded.

Recently, the Rineys have made significant contributions to the University of Missouri to support research in theranostics and nuclear medicine for cancer treatment.

In addition, the Rineys and their foundation have supported numerous civic and charitable organizations in the St. Louis region, including Arch to Park, BioSTL, Operation Food Search, 100 Neediest Cases, Assistance League St. Louis and the Ronald McDonald House.

Riney graduated from the University of Missouri with a bachelor's degree in civil engineering and a master of business administration. He and his wife live in St. Louis and have three children and six grandchildren.

OLD MISSOURI

Old Missouri, fair Missouri!

Dear Old Varsity,

Ours are hearts that fondly love thee.

Here's a health to thee!

Proud art thou in classic beauty

Of thy noble past.

With thy watchwords, honor, duty,

Thy high fame shall last.

Every student, man and maiden,

Swell the glad refrain,

'Till the breezes, music laden,

Waft it back again.

Proud art thou in classic beauty

Of thy noble past.

With thy watchwords, honor, duty,

Thy high fame shall last.
